Ethel Cain - Sun Bleached Flies

                   E
Intro:  E  A  E  A
         E  A  D  A

E                                          A
Sun bleached flies sitting in the windowsill
E                        A
Waiting for the day they escape
             E                                A
They talk all about that money and how their babies are always

Changing
E                         D              A
While they're breathing in the poison of the pain

E                           A
What I wouldn't give to be in church this Sunday
E                                 A
Listening to the choir, so heartfelt, all singing
E                                 A
God loves you, but not enough to save you
E                               D      A
So, baby girl, good luck taking care of yourself

         B                           A
So I said fine, 'cause that's how my daddy raised me
               B                     E       A
If they strike once then you just hit 'em twice as hard
         B                       A
But in the end, if I bend under the weight that they gave me
            E                             B      A
Then this heart would break and fall as twice as far

( B  A  E  A  E )

                         A
We all know how it goes
E                              A
The more it hurts, the less it shows
E                              A
But I still feel like they all know
E                                   A
And that's why I can never go back home
E            A    E                         A
And I spend my life watching it go by from the sidelines
E            A    E                       D       A
And God, I've tried, but I think it's about time I put up a fight

But I don't mind 'cause that's how my daddy raised me (how my daddy raised me)
              B                         A
If they strike once then you just hit 'em twice as hard
              B                         A
But I always knew that in the end no one was coming to save me
          A              A       Am       E
So I just prayed and I keep praying and praying and praying

E                              A
If it's meant to be then it will be

So I met him there and told him I believe
          E                         A
Singing if it's meant to be then it'll be
                        B        A
I forgive it all as it comes back to me (back to me)

E                              A
If it's meant to be then it will be
B                              A
So I met him there and told him I believe (I believe, yeah)
          E                         A
Singing if it's meant to be then it will be (oh, oh)
                        B        A
I forgive it all as it comes back to me (it comes back to me)

E                              A
If it's meant to be then it'll be (it'll be, it'll be, it'll be)
         B                     A
So I met him there and told him I believe (yeah)
          E                         A
Singing if it's meant to be then it will be
                        B        A
I forgive it all as it comes back to me (oh)

E                              A
I'm still praying for that house in Nebraska
E                              A
By the highway, out on the edge of town
Dancing with the windows open
I can't let go when something's broken
                              B
It's all I know and it's all I want now

[Final] A  E  A  E  A  E
        A  E  B  A  E
