

Fifth Harmony - Don't Say You Love Me

```
Intro: Gbm E A D
                                                         You gotta know what it's like
                                                         Dbm
            Gbm
                                                         I know you been here before
                                                         Gbm E A D
I've been waiting, I've been patient
Don't say you miss me
            A D
When you don't call
                                                         Gbm E
                                                                            Dbm
                                                         But I need a little bit more
              Gbm
Don't say you're hurtin'
           Dbm D
Without the scars
                                                         Don't say you miss me
           Gbm
                                                                     Α
Don't promise me tonight
                                                         When you don't call
        A D
                                                                         Ghm
Without tomorrow too
                                                         Don't say you're hurtin'
       Gbm
Don't say you love me
                                                         Without the scars
         Dbm D
                                                                    Gbm
Unless you do
                                                         Don't promise me tonight
                                                         Without tomorrow too
We've been close, but inconsistent
                                                                  Gbm
                                                         Don't say you love me
     E
You hold my heart at a safer distance, yeah
                                                                  Dbm
          Е
                                                         Unless you do
You think words can ease the tension
    Gbm E
                                                         Unless you do
But you can't deny that something's missin'
                                                                      Gbm
                                                         Don't say you love me
I need a little bit more
                                                         Unless you do
                                                                      F#M
I need a little bit more
                                                         Don't say you love me
Gbm E
                                                                      Dbm
You gotta know what it's like
                                                         Don't say you love me
                                                                   Gbm E
I know you been here before
                                                         Don't promise me tonight
Gbm E A
I've been waiting, I've been patient
                                                         Without tomorrow too
Gbm E Dbm D
                                                                     Gbm
                                                         Don't say you love me
But I need a little more
                                                                  Dbm
                                                         Unless you do
Don't say you miss me
                                                         Unless you do
When you don't call
                Gbm
                                                         Gbm
Don't say you're hurtin'
                                                         I need a little bit more
           Dbm D
Without the scars
                                                         I need a little bit more
                                                         Gbm E
           Gbm
Don't promise me tonight
                                                         You gotta know what it's like
Without tomorrow too
                                                         I know you been here before
                                                         Gbm E A D I've been waiting, I've been patient
          Gbm E
Don't say you love me
                                                         Gbm E

How am I supposed to take it F Dbm
                                                         When you don't call
When weeks go by and I'm still waitin'
                                                         Don't say you're hurtin'
 F#M E A D
                                                                    Dbm D
I say I'm OK but i can' fake it, yeah
                                                        Without the scars
         F#M E Dbm
                                                                    Gbm
Even when I try, yeah, something's missing
                                                         Don't promise me tonight
                                                                 A D
                                                         Without tomorrow too
I need a little bit more
                                                                  Gbm
                                                         Don't say you love me
I need a little bit more
                                                                  Dbm D
                                                         Unless you do
