I arranged this for solo acoustic guitar several years ago.
In section B the bass switches from Gb to A (which keeps the Gbm feel, IMO) as it wasn't possible to keep the original melody and bass.
In section C the melody is dropped a whole octave, which allows the Gb bass line to be preserved and sounds better, I feel, on an acoustic than playing it above the 12th fret.

I'm sorry, I checked it and checked it, thought it was okay and sent it.
But I have since discovered a tiny error, so here's the corrected version.
