

Foy Vance - Cradled In Arms

tom:

Intro: Ab Eb

Sometimes I remember that it is November
And I once was cradled in arms
Given a bible
For all of it's cheek it had charm
(Ab Eb Bb)

There on the spine, my name was inscribed
Like my pain gets inscribed in your heart
But hold it together, I've never felt better
And we've fared the weather so far

So try not to worry
Consider the stars
We came from nothing
But nothing can tear us apart

Now that I'm sober, I think of October
As a time when you're close to my heart
Though I don't remember
You once were cradled in arms

And time after time
You've been inclined

To blame everything that you are

So try not to worry
Consider the stars
We came from nothing
But nothing can tear us apart

In February a spirit and his fairies
Sing out on an old cabin porch
'Cause if it's not for healing
Then what was the hurting for?

In March and July
Their voices arrived
To a song they sang long before

So try not to worry
Consider the stars
We came from nothing
But nothing can tear us apart

So try not to worry
Consider the stars
We came from nothing
But nothing can tear us apart
Sometimes I remember that it is November
And I once was cradled in arms
