

Frank Sinatra - A Nightingale Sang In Berleley Square

Tom: Eb

A nightingale sang in Berkeley Square.

That certain night, the night we met.

The moon that lingered over London Town.

There was magic abroad in the air.

Poor puzzled moon, he wore a frown.

There were angels dining at the Ritz.

How could he know we two were so in love.

And a nightingale sang in Berkeley Square.

The whole darned world seemed upside down.

The streets of town were pathed with stars.

I may be right, I may be wrong.

It was such a romantic affair.

But as we kissed and said good night.

That as we kissed and said goodnight.

A nightingale sang in Berkeley Square.
