Intro: D G D G
                                                                I just feel so exposed without you near.
[Verso 1]
                                                                [Pausa]
         D
I won't hold my tongue.
                                                                Em
                                                                   And I won't say that I'm okay,
                    G
I'm not okay without you here.
                                                                Fm
                                                                    'Cause you taught me not to lie,
                D
I guess what's done is done.
                                                                                                         Α
                                                                So know that I'll miss you everyday.
I just feel so exposed without you near.
                                                                [Pré-Refrão]
[Pausa]
                                                                            D
                                                                You always taught me to be good,
Em
  And I won't say that I'm okay,
                                                                And always do my best to be selfless
Fm
   'Cause you taught me not to lie,
                                       Α
                                                                But I know that God is holding you
So know that I'll miss you everyday.
                                                                And I am so damn jealous,
[Pré-Refrão]
                                                                         Fm
                                                                 'Cause I miss your arms around me
            D
You always taught me to be good,
                                                                And the way you make me laugh.
                                                                And now I'm stuck inside this prison that says
And always do my best to be selfless
But I know that God is holding you
                                                                You're never coming back.
And I am so damn jealous,
                                                                [Refrão]
         Fm
'Cause I miss your arms around me
                                                                             D
                                                                And now I'm sitting in my room
And the way you make me laugh.
                                                                As I try to write this song.
        Α
Now I'm stuck inside this prison that says
                                                                I'm so sorry that it's not good enough.
You're never coming back.
                                                                It's just that everything seems wrong,
[Refrão]
                                                                           Em
                                                                But I will try my best to be good
         D
So I'm sitting in my room
                                                                So I can pay my way,
As I try to write this song.
                                                                Straight through the pearly gates
                                                                Into your arms so we can play
I'm so sorry that it's not good enough.
                                                                      D
                                                                Once more.
It's just that everything seems wrong,
                                                                [Outro]
           Em
And I keep bursting into tears
                                                                (Tocar D G repetidamente até o final)
Because the pain won't go away,
                                                                Grandma, Uh, I love God with all my heart
Because the father took my best friend
And said she cannot come out to play
                                                                And uh, The only reason that isn't
       DGD
Anymore.
                                                                Stated in my life is because of you
[Refrão]
                                                                And I really don't understand it God
         D
                                                                That you introduced me to
I won't hold my tongue.
                                                                What would take you away so fast
                                                                    G
I'm not okay without you here.
                                                                When you were the only person
         D
I won't hold my tongue.
                                                                That ever understood a thing I ever said
                                                                And I really don't understand
I'm not okay without you here.
         D
I won't hold my tongue.
                                                                How to deal with this anymore
                                                                And, I'm just really not okay with this
I'm not okay without you here.
                                                                   G
