

Fun. - Be Calm

```
Tom: B
                                                           or when I found out one day I'm gonna die
                                                             Abm Bbm Db Gb Abm
  (intro) ( Abm Dbm Abm )
                                                           if only I could find my people or my place in life
    ( Abm Dbm Gb )
                                                           Gb Abm Bb Dbm
then when they come to 'carolin'
       (B Bbm)
       ( Abm Dbm Gb )
                                                           Gb Abm Bbm Dbm so loud, so bright, the theremin
As I walk through the streets of my new city
                                                              Gb Abm Bbm
                                                           will lead us to a chorus
                                                           Dbm Gb Abm Bbm Dbm Gb
my back feeling much better, I suppose where we'll all rejoice and sing a song that goes:
Bbm Abm
I've reclaimed the use of my imagination
                                                           Oh be calm.
 Gb
for better or for worse, I've yet to know
Bbm Abm
                                                           Be calm.
but I always knew you'd be the one to understand me,
                                                           I know you feel like you are breaking down.
            Gb
I guess that's why it took so long to get things right.
                                                            Abm Dbm
                                                           I know that it gets so hard sometimes,
Suddenly I'm lost
                                                            Gb
                                                           Be calm.
 Dbm
On my street
                                                           Take it from me, I've been there a thousand times.
On my block
 Gb
                                                           You hate your pulse because it thinks you're still alive
Oh why, Oh why
                F
Oh why haven't you been there for me?
                                                           It just gets so hard sometimes
                     B Bbm
    Gb
                                                            Gb
Can't you see, I'm losing my mind this time?
                                                           Be calm.
              Dbm
This time it's for real, I can see
                                                                   Gb Ebm
                                                           I don't remember much that night,
B Gb B Gb Gb Ab B
Gb Abm
             Bbm
                                                           Just walking, thinking fondly of you
Abm Gb Ebm Dbm B
All the trees are turning red
 Gb Abm Bbm Dbm Gb
                                                           Thinking how the worst is yet to come
The beggars near bodegas grin at me
Gb Abm Bbm Dbm
                                                           Gb B Gb B
I think they want something
                                                           From that street corner came a song
Gb Abm Bbm Dbm Gb
                                                            B Dbm Ebm E
                                                           And I can't remember the man,
I close my eyes, I tell myself to breathe
     В
                                                                      B Bbm
                                                           The panhandler or his melody.
and be calm.
                                                            Abm Gb Ebm Dbm
                                                           The words exchanged had far exceeded any change I'd given
Be calm.
I know you feel like you are breaking down.
 Abm Dbm
                                                               В
Well I know that it gets so hard sometimes.
                                                           Oh be calm.
 Gb
Be calm.
                                                           Be calm.
                                                           I know you feel like you are breaking down.
I'm scared that everyone is out to get me.
                                                                     Dbm
                                                           I know that it gets so hard sometimes,
                                B Bbm
"These days before you speak to me you pause."
                                                            Gb
                                                           Be calm.
"I always see you looking out your window.'
                                                                      В
                                                           Take it from me, I've been there a thousand times.
"After all, you lost your band, you left your mom."
                                                                   Abm
                                                           You hate your pulse because it thinks you're still alive
                           Dbm
Now every single crack, every pain that I pass, Ε
says I should either leave or pick it up
                                                           It just gets so hard sometimes
                                                             Gb
But with every single buck I've made
                                                           Be calm.
                                                             Abm
I'm saddled with bad luck that came
                                                           Be calm.
the moment I was baptized
                                                           (D G)
```

Acordes

