Gabriel Vendramini - Ode To The Worthless

```
Tom: G
                                                              As my vision seems to black out
Intro: 2x: G Em
                                                                                        Em
                                                              G
                                                              I can?t let this rage consume me
G
I?m so pissed off today
                                                               С
                                                                              D
                                                              Your acts, your words, your thoughts
Em
I think I?m gonna break
                                                                    D
                                                                                   G
                                                               С
                                                              You deserve all the blame
                                     Fm
G
I?m avoiding all the mirrors and the taste of broken glass
                                                                    D
                                                                             G D Em D
                                                               C
                                                               Go to hell and burn in flames
G
                                                              С
                                                                       D
                                                                                  G
I think I?m gonna puke
                                                               You?re no human to me
Fm
This world is so messed up
                                                               C
                                                                              D
                                 Em
                                                               Your acts, your words, your thoughts
People are so annoying and this breed don?t represents me
                                                               C
                                                                    D
                                                                                 G
                                                              You deserve all the blame
                                                                   D G D Em D
C
               D
                                 G
                                                               C
Your acts, your words, your thoughts
                                                               Go to hell and burn in flames
      D
                                                                         D
                    G
You deserve all the blame
                                                               You?re no human to me
              G D Em D
      D
С
Go to hell and burn in flames
                                                              G
          D
                                                              Your acts, your words, your thoughts
You?re no human to me
                                                               Em
                                                              Your acts, your words, your thoughts
G Em (2x)
                                                               G
                                                              Your acts, your words, your thoughts
G
                                                               Em
I won?t swallow your shit
                                                               Your acts, your words, your thoughts
Fm
I?d rather swallow my pride
                                                              Your acts, your words, your thoughts
                            Fm
G
                                                               Fm
I?m not looking back, ?cause I don?t give a damn
                                                              Your acts, your words, your thoughts
                                                              Your acts, your words, your thoughts
I can?t see things straight
                                                               [Fade out]
Fm
```

G

Acordes

