

Gene Clark - Echoes

Intro: C Bb C Bb
C Bb C

Tom:

Bb
On the streets you look again

C
At the places you have been

G D
Or the moments that you thought, where am I going

Bb
Though the walls are like the dead

C
They reflect the things you've said

G D
And the echoes in your head continue showing

Here the castles you can build

Am
Out of dreams you half fulfilled

Em
Won't keep out all of the ill wind that is blowing

And you'll look still for a trace

F7M
Of an opening in a place

C
Where you find the life that you were used to knowing

(C Bb C)

Bb
You can walk out in the night

C
And be sure that it's all right

G D
To exaggerate the world that's only being

Bb
You can watch Regina dance

C
Through the crystal panes of glass

G D

Yet you know that there's so much that she's not seeing

Still, you hold one precious thought

Am
After all this time you've sought

Em
That she might be just protecting what she longs for

And her eyes are veiled with black

F7M
'Cause she plays she can look back

C
At the love she wanted so, but says is no more

(Db B Db)

B
The lights go on, commence the cold

Db
As your senses will be sold

Ab Eb
To the parrot watchers mimicking no reasons

B
To pretend that what they are

Db
From the fact completely far

Ab Eb
While the truth may be betrayal, lies and treason

Db
Build their towers in the sand

Bbm
Down the roads of their command

Fm
When the kingdom is the innocence they're stealing

Db
And infection easily spreads

F#7M
Through the searching, twisted heads

Db
As they team up to tear down each others' feeling

(Db B Db)
