A B E
So now this house has grown too small
A B E
Don't think of how it used to be
A B E
You say you live now in tomorrow
A B E
And there I sense you don't see me

A B E
The clock chimes four, you'll turn again then
A B E
To take pursuit of empty dreams
A B E
My sensitivity is dying
A B E
You're bound to some day think of me

A B E
Hey, hey, can't you see
A B E A
Baby, don't you lie to me
E A E
I know you think that you must go
B A E
Well, I think that's alright by me

A B E
Nervous words and empty motions
A B E
Claim symptoms just too plain to pass
A B E
I don't know where you think you're going
A B E
But you have drained my love at last

A B E
Tomorrow I'll be slowly movin'
A B E
I can't waste all my days the same
A B E

Don't stop to think of where I might be
A B E
Don't stop to figure who's to blame

A B E
Hey, hey, can't you see
A B E A
Baby, don't you lie to me
E A E
I know you think that you must go
B A E
Well, I think that's alright by me

A B E
I'll drink my last toast to your wealth, babe
A B E
I'll break my last convicting smile
A B E
Don't think of what you must remind me
A B E
I'm going to let you keep your style

A B E
The asphalt's branded old illusions
A B E
Of what you'll be when not confined
A B E
Have taken you, so just go on now
A B E
For I've been coastin' I don't mind

A B E
Hey, hey, can't you see
A B E A
Baby, don't you lie to me
E A E
I know you think that you must go
B A E
Well, I think that's alright by me
