

Gerard Way - Brother

I can't go back
                             tom:
                                                                 Don't think I will
Does anyone have the time to bring me down?
                                                                 I won't sleep tonight as long as I still-
And can I sleep all night long to the drums of the city rain?
                                                                 Hear the drums of the city rain
                                                                 Faces I don't know
Cuz I'm awake all night long to the drums of the city rain
                                                                 I am tired in the glow
And brother if you have the chance to pick me up?
                                                                 Of the freezing club
And can I sleep on your couch to the pound of the ache and Keep me breathing don't make the lights come back pain?
                                                                 Can you take me home?
In my head- cuz I'm awake all night long to the drums of the
                                                                 We all need this when we leave alone
                                                                 Remember when you and I would make things up?
The lights we chase
                                                                 So many nights, just take me down to the place we would hear
The nights we steal
                                                                 them play
The things that we take- to make us feel this
                                                                 I miss that sound
I can't go back
                                                                 Cuz now we don't sing so loud
Don't think I will
                                                                 To the drums of the city rain
I won't sleep tonight as long as I still-
                                                                 The lights we chase
Hear the drums of the city rain
                                                                 The nights we steal
Does anyone have the guts to shut me up?
                                                                 The things that we take- to make us feel this Cuz I believe, that every night
                                                                 I can't go back
There's a chance we can walk away
                                                                 Don't think I will
So hold on tight-
                                                                 I won't sleep tonight as long as I still-
Because I won't wait too long, in the drums of the beating
                                                                 Hear the drums of the city rain
Cuz the nights don't last
                                                                 Like strangers laugh and like subways feel
And we leave alone
                                                                 Things I'm trying to break
Will you drive me back?
                                                                 Oh, just wait until this is all we have- to keep us ill
                                                                 I won't breathe tonight as long as I still hear the drums of
Can you take me home?
The lights we chase
                                                                 city rain
The nights we steal
                                                                 ( D )
The things that we take- to make us feel this
