          [Primeira Parte]

D
My double vision
       G                        A
Is only amplifyin' everythin' he isn't
D           G
'Til I feel less attached and bored to
      A
Death, but listen
D            G
It's no one's fault, it's just my
           D          G
Terrible condition, mm
             A
And I've been thinkin'
D           G
If I move out this year, I'll feel my
     A
Parents slippin'
D            G
Away and also, I'm just scared of that
   A
Commitment
D           G
I really think sometimes there's
              A          D  G
Somethin' that I'm missin', mm

[Refrão]

D
Oh, I know
           Bm
Spiralin' is miserable
              Em
I should probably go back home
             A
Why does that feel difficult, difficult?
    D
And oh, I hope
          Bm
I wake up invisible
          Em
I'd be someone no one knows
          A
I guess I'm just difficult

[Segunda Parte]

          D
To name this feelin'
          G
Would take a hundred thousand years
         A
Some kind of grievin'
D          G
But over what I never had, so I've been
A
Speakin'
D        G
To my therapist, I call her every
A         D   G
Weekend, mm
          A
I meant to tell you
D           G
How I've hated how we left things when
  A
It fell through
D              G
'Cause you were everythin' to me, where
      A
Did you run to?
D        G
```

```
Was it somethin' that I said that
       A           D  G
Colored you blue? Mm

[Refrão]

D
Oh, I know
           Bm
Spiralin' is miserable
              Em
I should probably go back home

Why does that feel difficult, difficult?
    D
And oh, I hope
          Bm
I wake up invisible
          Em
I'd be someone no one knows
          A
I guess I'm just difficult, difficult

A  D         G
   Difficult
   A
I
D          G
Difficult

[Ponte]

          A
I've been drinkin'
D           G
And stayin' up too late, relivin' bad
  A
Decisions
D          G
I thought eventually, my ranting here
          A
Would fix it
D          G
I really think sometimes there's
              A         D   G
Somethin' that I'm missin' (Mm)
