

Gram Parsons - November Nights

Tom: B

Gb E
 You say that you're restless, you say that you know me too well
Gb E
 You've seen all my best and you've heard all the stories I tell
Gb Gb E
 You think you've been taken for granted, you're probably right
B E Gb B
 Still I remember a November Night
Em E Gb B
 When the dawn on your doorway shone white with frost
B Em
 And the soft love that always began with the touch of your hand
Gb E B Gb B
 And recall the mornings that tossed your hair in the wind
Gb E
 Time's made it meaningless, I'm insecure, you can tell
Gb E
 But why am I leaving unless time had only meant well?
Gb E
Gb Gb

There's nothing left now to excite you, no reason to try
B E Gb B
 Still I remember a candlelit sky
 Em? E Gb B
 And the summer surrounding the ground where you and I lay
B Em B
B And though we were always alone with our secrets known B
Gb E B Gb B
 We both were aware and afraid our closeness might end
Gb E B
 My love's like a dancer, she weaves through the dangers complete
Gb E B
 Her well rehearsed answers with rational reasons for feet B
Gb E Gb B
Gb Gb
B And if it decreases or ceases to always seem right
B E Gb B
 I'll just remember a November Night
 Em? E Gb B
 When the dawn on your doorway shone white with frost
B Em B
B And the soft love that always began with the touch of your hand B
B Gb E B Gb B
Gb And recall the mornings that tossed your hair in the wind
