

Hanson - One Way Ticket

Tom: D

(I. Hanson / T. Hanson / Z. Hanson)

[Intro:] D A G A

Don't want to fall into believing in nothing

There's enough room for all of you instead

Well I don't feel guilty

When you say I'm wasting my time

Same old start to the girl in the store
She keeps on dreaming with that look in her eyes
Everyone believes in a future
They've seen in next month magazines

I want to run with you until lose control

Don't want worry bout getting by

I want to breath when I'm breathing

And see what I'm seeing

Take a one way ticket tonight

Take a one way ticket tonight

Stock market crash man low on cash
If he hit it big he will make it alright
Yet he don't remember the last cold December
The sun on his face feeling fine

Just lying on the floor in the room by the door
She shot this life with one too many lines
She needed a good time leave the past behind
She got what she wanted alright

If anyone keeps calling well you can tell them

I'm done wasting my life I've packed my back

I'm searching for something, anything

And I won't be coming back

I want to run with you until lose control

Don't want worry bout getting by

I want to breath when I'm breathing

Believe it. Believe it

Take a one way ticket tonight
