

He Is We - Love Life

```
Tom: D
                                                               tired of hurting, slowly learning
La lalalala lalalala love life, whats that?
                                                               Irate you're too late.
La lalalala lalalala love life, what's that?
                                                               Look at the mess that you've created
                                                               First date to slight hate
Hush now,
          Quiet down.
                                                               Love life What's that?
 Can you hear my heart racing?
                                                                La lalalala lalalala love life, whats that?
Falling to my knees cause I've been chasing
                                                                La lalalala lalalala love life, what's that?
A lie, (a lie) Love life
 I don't know what I was thinking, dipped my toes in, now I'm Grey clouds above me
                                                                Like when you said you love me
M A
I quess it hurts a bit but I'm over it now.
                                                               Winds blowing me away
                                                               But part of me will always stay
Heartaches and mistakes,
                                                               Eyes closed, arms wide
                                                                Embrace the storm that I feel inside
how many hits can a good girl take I'm
                                                               No more crying, no more crying
tired of hurting, slowly learning
                                                               I don't mind a chop or two
Irate you're too late.
                                                               But god I love that sound, sound
Look at the mess that you've created
                                                               Thunder of my inner chaos slowly calming
                                                               Down, down
First date to slight hate
                                                               I look up in the sky
Love life What's that?
                                                               No longer seeing you
                                                                Look up in the sky
La lalalala lalalala love life, whats that?
                                                                See the sun coming through
La lalalala lalalala love life, what's that?
                                                               La lalalala lalalala love life, whats that?
I tried, yes I tried.
                                                               La lalalala lalalala love life, what's that?
 But it takes two to make it
                                                               Heartaches and mistakes,
I'm obsessed and you can't fake it
                                                               how many hits can a good girl take I'm Denied
                                                                tired of hurting, slowly learning
Deep inside
                                                               Irate you're too late.
 I wanna break your heart too
                                                                Look at the mess that you've created
Lead you on enough to drop you.
                                                               First date to slight hate
 I guess it hurts a bit
                         but I'm over it now.
                                                               Love life What's that?
Heartaches and mistakes,
                                                               La lalalala lalalala love life, whats that?
how many hits can a good girl take I'm
                                                               La lalalala lalalala love life, what's that?
```

Acordes

