

Hot Mulligan - Featuring Mark Hoppus

tom:

I kinda miss you, back in high school
 Twenty-five and I still think about your drawings that you made
 I kinda miss you, but I can't talk to you
 Cause in my mind, the only thing that I could do now is intrude
 I've got a ring, I think that she'd love you too
 But I can't get past the fact I drag almost everyone down

I didn't think I'd say I wanna see you
 I won't reach out to you after all this time

I'd imagine I don't fit into your view
 Frozen drives from Rocky Horror outgrown
 Lofty plans and failing class aside, you'd Find me in the margins of a sketchbook
 Probably best to let the memory die out
 I've got a ring, I think that she'd love you too
 But I can't get past the fact I drag almost everyone down
 Painting the walls that lined the hall after school
 Smoke and tattoos, five years removed, hope you'd recognize me now
 I kinda miss you
