August afternoon, I can picture you, walking with your father at your side

B Abm E
B Gb
In the summer heat, California speaks, softly like she's making up her mind

Abm E
And now, as I stand beside you I say

[Refrão]

B E Abm Gb
Baby, isn't it crazy that we are born only to die?

B E
Oh but lately, I've been counting my stars

Abm Gb
?Cause I will spend my whole life loving you

[Segunda Parte]

B Abm E
B Gb

Through your shining eyes, sweet like Jeffrey Pines, I pretended I could read your thoughts

B Gb Abm E

Now it's just the truth, seems our hearts have fused, soldered like the gold your sister brought

Abm E
And how am I lucky enough to say

[Refrão]

B E Abm Gb
Baby, isn't it crazy that we are born only to die?

B E
Oh but lately, I've been counting my stars

Abm Gb
?Cause I will spend my whole life loving you
