

Imperial Mammoth - Requiem On Water

G tom:

Slow we paddle through the lake
 Straight to the very center
 Of the darkest water
 Where we can embrace
 The shadows on the surface
 The eyes that look up lifeless
 From our twins below

And though your arms and legs are under
 Love will be the echo in your
 Ears when all is lost to plunder
 My love will be there still

True it's chilling to behold

Up close we stumble backwards
 Laughing in our boat 'til
 The image sinks away
 To someplace far but certain
 A land of new suspension
 Where someday we must go

And though your arms and legs are under
 Love will be the echo in your
 Ears when all is lost to plunder
 My love will be there still

Though your arms and legs are under
 Love will be the echo in your
 Ears when all is lost to plunder
 My love will be there still
