

Iron Maiden - Invaders

Tom: E

Written by Steve Harris.
 Performed by IRON MAIDEN.
 Taken from the album THE NUMBER OF THE BEAST.

NOTE:
 Invaders is an extension of the old standard song Invasion.
 Iron Maiden have only played Invaders live one time, and that was in Auckland, NZ 1992.

Transcribed by Oskar "The Seventh Son" Wigren.
 Intro: -riff:

Riff 1:

Verse:

Riff 2:

Riff 3:

Chorus:

Solo-riff:

End of solo-riff.

Outro:

Intro: Riff 1 (4 times)
 Verse (4 times)
 Riff 2 (2 times)
 Riff 3 (4 times)
 Chorus (2 times)
 Riff 2 (2 times)
 Verse (4 times)
 Riff 2 (2 times)

Riff 3 (4 times)
 Chorus (2 times)
 Riff 1 (4 times)
 Solo-riff
 Riff 2 (2 times)
 Verse (4 times)
 Riff 2 (2 times)
 Riff 3 (4 times)
 Chorus (2 times)
 Outro
 END

Lyrics:

Longboats have been sighted the evidence of war has begun
 Many Nordic fighting men their swords and shields all gleam in the sun
 Call to arms defend yourself get ready to stand and fight for your lives
 Judgement day has come around so be prepared don't run stand your ground

They're coming in from the sea
 They've come the enemy
 Bebeath the blazing sun
 The battle has to be won
 Invaders...Pillaging
 Invaders...Looting

Set ablaze the campfires alert the other men from inland
 Warning must be given there's not enough men here for a stand
 The Vikings are too many too powerful to take on our own
 We must have reinforcements we cannot fight this battle alone

They're coming over the hill
 They've come to attack
 They're coming in for the kill
 There's no turning back
 Invaders...Fighting
 Invaders...Marauding

Axes grind and maces clash as wounded fighters fall to the ground
 Severed limbs and fatal woundings bloody corpses lay all around
 The smell of death and burning flesh the battle weary fight to the end
 The Saxons have been overpowered victims of mighty Norsemen

You'd better scatter and run
 The battle lost and not won
 You'd better get away
 To fight another day
 Invaders...Raping
 Invaders...Plundering

OSKAR WIGREN 1996-12-23
 TOMORROW'S CHRISTMAS DAY.

Acordes

