

James Arthur - From The Grave

Tom: D

I never meant to leave you there, a crown of roses in your hair
 Along with everything you ever feared
 In every step I see your face, and even though I'm miles away
 Just close your eyes, and you can feel me here
 Feel me here

Don't give up even when I'm gone
 Don't give up

From the grave, I crawl
 Through pouring rain for you
 I would pay the cost to
 Be in your arms again
 The fire I would walk through
 For all the pain I caused you
 Oh, I would pay the cost to
 Be in your arms again
 To be in your arms again
 To be in your arms again

Now, I'll always be right where you were
 No borders can keep us apart
 And on the other side, I'll meet you there
 So bury me and lock me in
 I'll find a way to rise again

I'll break away and find you anywhere
 Oh, anywhere

Don't give up even when I'm gone
 Don't give up

From the grave, I crawl
 Through pouring rain for you
 I would pay the cost to
 Be in your arms again

The fire I would walk through
 For all the pain I caused you

Oh, I would pay the cost to
 Be in your arms again
 To be in your arms again

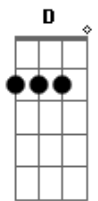

To be in your arms again (Oh, yeah)

From the grave, I crawl
 Through pouring rain for you
 I would pay the cost to
 Be in your arms again

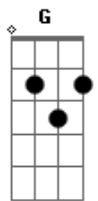

The fire I would walk through
 For all the pain I caused you
 Oh, I would pay the cost to

Be in your arms again
 To be in your arms again
 To be in your arms again
