

Jaymes Young - Stone

Tom: G

Intro: G Am Em

Your father came and went like the ocean's tide
 And the day he left, he never said goodbye
 Your mother started drinking like the whole world died
 You've be waiting for a miracle all your life

'Cause if the fires don't burn it down
 The rains will wash it away
 If you're looking for solid ground
 A stone will never break

So give me all your pain
 And love will set you free
 Give me all your shame
 Put all your weight on me
 And I'll be the stone
 That you need me to be

You spend your nights looking at the stars
 Thinking your life would be better on mars
 Checking your pulse just to feel it beat
 Looking for a stone to keep the peace

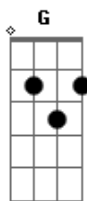

So give me all your pain
 And love will set you free
 Give me all your shame
 Put all your weight on me
 And I'll be the stone
 That you need me to be

'Cause if the fires don't burn it down
 The rains will wash it away
 If you're looking for solid ground
 A stone will never break

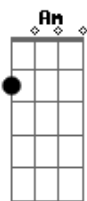

So give me all your pain
 And love will set you free
 Give me all your shame
 Put all your weight on me
 So give me all your pain
 And love will set you free

Give me all your shame
 Put all your weight on me
 And I'll be the stone that you need me to be
 And I'll be the stone that you need me to be
