In days of peace,
Sweet smell- ing summer nights
Of wine and song.
Dusty pave- ment, burning feet.

I won't go down
Acting the same old play.
Gave sixty days for just one night.
Don't think I'd make it, but I'd bet I might.

Why am I cry- ing? I want to know.
How can I smile and make it right
For sixty days and eighty nights,
And not give in and lose the fight?
