Tom: C

Music & Lyrics by John Butler

Tabbed by - sarah martin
Tuning Open C - C G C G C E

This is basically some improvisation and additions to the Walker/Prince tab originally submitted, complete with licks and the solo.. have fun with it. :)

Intro: - palm mute

??mm no.

With Slide

VERSE

John uses a glass slide on his little finger.

-/ indicates upward slide

Basic riff:

then:
"Don't want to be a thorn in your side..."

This is the instrumental part with the lil licks

~The Huge Ass Solo~ (i got a video of john playin betterman on rage and i gotta make some corrections,) on the 12th frets instead of how i've tabbed it here. its easier.

this is the bass bit but its fun to play anyhow so why not tab it :) play with lots n lots of slide

Back to Johnny B now:

Then:

Key:

~ Sustain the note

Bend - e.g '12 14' means bend from 12 up to 14,

'14 12' is to release the note back to the 12th

fret.

\ Downward slide

/ Upward slide

X Palm mute

Harmonic

Ghost note.. u don't have to play it

Its kinda rusty on the structure side but it's a start.. Listen to the cd to get the rhythms.. Any accuracy found in the tab is purely coincidental ;)
