Intro:
I just remembered, that time at the market
                         Am7
Snuck up behind me and jumped on my shopping cart
G A Bm Em
And rode down, isle five
You looked behind you to smile back at me $\mathsf{Bm}$ \mathsf{Am7} \mathsf{D7} \mathsf{G}
Crashed into a rack full of magazines
G A Bm Em
They asked us, if we could
DI- D - Bm7 - D7
                           G
Can't remember, what went wrong last September
         G
Though I?m sure that you'd remind me, if you had to comfortable and so broken in
I sleep with this new girl I?m still getting used to Am7
                                          D7 G
My friends all approve, say she?s gonna be good for you

They throw me, high fives
She says that the bible is all that she reads
And prefers that I not use profan-ity G A Rm E^{m}
  A Bm Em
Your mouth was,
               so dirty
Life of the party and she swears that she's artsy
                              D Bm7
                Α
But you could distinguish Miles from Coltrane
                Bm7 comfortable and
                              C Bm7 E G Gm
She's perfect,
                   so flawless
                                  or so they say ...
She thinks I can't see the smile that she's faking
                        Am7
and poses for pictures that aren't being tak-en
G A Bm Em
I loved you grey sweat pants
No makeup, so perfect
 Our love was,
                 comfortable and so broken in Bm7
                                    A Bm7 F
                           C
                               I'm not impressed,
                 so flawless
 She's perfect,
 A Bm7 E G A
   I want you back
