

Journey - Whos Crying Now Solo

Tom: C

Tabbed by:gabe

this is pretty mutch the same thing as the other one, but i think mine is easier to play.

Tuning:

do that twice, then on the third time do this, and if you have a whammy bar use it for last note or if not bend it. thats what i used the squigley line for.

this time theres a bit of a twist, sounds cool. do this twice, then do the thing the squigley line again

songs kinda mellow-ish i just got this from the other solo tab, i couldnt find any easier way to play this.

then do this part again, but theres a bit of a cool fill the second time thats about it. just repeat the first couple lines before the awesome solo untill fade, you can throw in the fill thing it sounds cool either way. i tried to tab the rest of song, but barley any guitar a couple notes here and there but its hard enough to here it without to tab it. so anything to say put it in the comments

=====

Acordes

