                                                                 I don't feel like comin' to the phone today
 I don't feel like comin' to the phone today
                                                                 But I don't feel like bein' alone
I wish everyone would leave me alone
                                                                 I can't deal with the chills on my own
I don't feel like comin' to the phone today
                                                                 Freezin' all night long
                                                                 I can't tell what's real or where I belong
[Refrão]
                                                                 [Segunda Parte]
Ring, ring-ring
                                                                 I don't feel like comin' to the phone today
I don't feel like comin' to the phone today
                                                                 Unless a Postmates' comin' on the way
Everyone should just leave me alone
                                                                 But my cellphone isn't well-known
I don't feel like comin' to the phone today
                                                                 Go the hell on
But I don't feel like bein' alone
                                                                 "Pretty please, get me these
I can't deal with the chills on my own
                                                                 Buy me this, buy me that," bitch, hit your knees
Freezin' all night long
                   G
I can't tell what's real or where I belong
                                                                I'm aware of the stress, I don't care to impress \stackrel{\text{D}}{\text{D}}
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                 Can't you see that I am high on drugs?
Uh, day-to-day same thoughts
                                                                 And low on the sleep
This is all the devil's fault
                                                                 I just wanna go somewhere and count my sheep
                                                                 I'm tired, I'm tired
I ain't mean to name drop
Off three, I pop, all three, I'm off, all three Gettin' high is exhausting
Should make it four like the rings on my Audi
                                                                 But I was told it gets better with time
Xans with the Everclear got me seein' foggy
                                                                 [Refrão]
Ironic how somethin' clear got me seein' foggy
                                                                Ring, ring-ring
Something ain't right 'bout the pills but I bought them
                                                                 I don't feel like comin' to the phone today
Something ain't right with my mind so I lost it
                                                                 Everyone should just leave me alone
Drugs turn my knob, then I run, that's a faucet
                                                                 I don't feel like comin' to the phone today
But it ain't water, it's wine
                                                                 But I don't feel like bein' alone
I'm tired, I'm tired of gettin' high, it's exhausting
                                                                 I can't deal with the chills on my own
[Refrão]
                                                                 Freezin' all night long
                                                                I can't tell what's real or where I belong
