(intro) Eb Ab Eb7 Bb

Db Ab
 Running in the parking lot, I'm four years old

Cm Bb
 I am lost, those were the days

Db Ab
 Soft memory of voices in the other room

Cm Bb
 Comforting you, as you fall asleep

Staring at the mother-daughter clones go by
 We're in a race against time
 And time might be winning

(chorus)

Ab Eb Bb
 And it's not gonna take all day long
 Watching the urban decay all around us, oh boy
 And I'm on my way on somewhere
 Feels like I'm going left and right in the dark
 How long must you wait
 How long must you stay

Wake up (x8)

I'm just saying that there may have be sometimes
 I might have used tricks to make you like me more
 When I found you I was running wld

Let's get outta here, and let's travel there

I wanna know what are you baby
 'Cause I think, I think you don't know

Sliding across the Indian wilderness
 Like the wind, riding down sore throats
 6am and you're in Hollywood
 And you're dancing, we made it

We are turning back the Earth so fast
 That it feels a lot slower

And it's not gonna take all day long
 Watching the urban decay all around us, oh boy
 And I'm on my way on somewhere
 How long will it take
 To fix what can't break

Wake up (x8)

Your girl is ill, as you like to feel
 Your fingers on the wheel
 Don't let the ? all live in the zoo
 With the director and the actor and the groom and the viewers
 Boys get their toys and girls get their dolls and Nothing much gets easier in the final stages

Are you spending today as the same
 As your life in corruption and ?

Wait up (x8)

Wake up (x8)
