

Justin Bieber - Habitual

tom:

Oh no, duh, duh, duh
 Oh no, duh, duh, duh
 Flowers open when they feel the sunlight
 Moonrise, tide change, right before our eyes
 Aggressive but softly, you place your lips on my lips
 We're each other's vice
 Our feelings, they go deep, deeper than the touching Deeper than the ocean, so we ain't never rushing through
 Our days or our nights, ain't no repercussions
 Never get enough, I'm only for your consumption
 Always rain the most in April
 Every scale needs to be stable
 Earth keeps spinnin' around, we're breathin'
 So thankful
 My love for you's habitual, yeah (oh, yeah)
 Not for a moment, but forever
 Know it sounds untraditional, oh, yeah
 Never ungrateful for it
 That's how we both want it
 Habitual
 Can't nobody keep me like you
 Call it unconventional

Our love is habitual, yeah
 Oh no, duh, duh, duh
 Oh no, duh, duh, duh
 Just to think that we've been out here this whole time
 Workin' through the seasons
 Never crossed paths till we had a reason
 Now let's fast-forward, look up
 A whole new perspective for life
 Always rain the most in April
 Every scale needs to be stable
 Earth keeps spinnin' around, we're breathin'
 So thankful
 My love for you's habitual, yeah (oh, yeah)
 Not for a moment, but forever
 Know it sounds untraditional, oh, yeah
 Never ungrateful for it
 That's how we both want it
 Habitual
 Can't nobody keep me like you
 Call it unconventional
 Our love is habitual, yeah
 Oh no, duh, duh, duh
 Oh no, duh, duh, duh
