                                                             Take my body, but it'll never take my soul
Capostraste na 3ª casa
  I'm closin' up shop, closing up my store
                                                             And I will walk, 'til i've fallen to my knees
                         C7M G Am
  I know this city, doesn't need me no more
                                                                                          C7M G
                                                              Until my heart stops, until it starts to
 And I know it ain't no mystery
                                                             My heart will always be in bear country
  I'm going on back to bear country
                                                             My heart will always be in bear country
  My back is broke, my head is numb
                                                             The city was killin' me, now I know
  This new generation's, makin' me feel old and dumb

The road is dark, but I can see
                                                             And it was hurting, it was taking it's toll
                                                             Take my body, but it'll never take my soul
  I know I'm getting close to bear country
                                                             Take my body, but it'll never take my soul
                                                             Take my body, but it'll never take my soul
  The city was killin' me, now I know
                         C7M G Am
  And it was hurting, it was taking it's toll
  Am
Take my body, but it'll never take my soul
