```
Ukecifras
```

Kenny Chesney - You And Tequila (feat. Grace Potter)

```
[Refrão]
                            tom:
                Gb (forma dos acordes no tom de G )
                                                                D
                                                                                                  G
                                                                 'Cause you and tequila make me crazy
                            Afinação: Eb Ab Db Gb Bb Eb
Intro: G G Cadd9
                                                                D
                                                                                          G
                                                                  Run like poison in my blood
        G G Cadd9 G
                                                                Bm
                                                                                                  Fm
                                                                   One more night could kill me, baby
[Primeira Parte]
            G Cadd9 G
                                                                One is one too many
                                                                                   Em
Baby, here I am again
                                                                            D
                          Cadd9 G
                                                                One more is never enough
                    G
Kicking dust in the canyon wind
                                 G Cadd9 G
                                                                [Ponte]
        G
              Cadd9 G
Waiting for that sun to go down
            G Cadd9 G
Made it up mulholland drive
                                                                When it comes to you
          G Cadd9 G
                                                                                          Em
Hell bent on getting high
                                                                Oh, the damage I could do
      G Cadd9
                        G
High above the lights of town
                                                                It's always your favorite sins
                                                                              С
                                                                That do you in [Refrão]
                                  G
                                                                [Solo] G G Cadd9
 'Cause you and tequila make me crazy
                                                                       G G Cadd9
D
                                                                       G G Cadd9
                          G
 Run like poison in my blood
                                                                       G G Cadd9
Bm
                                  Fm
  One more night could kill me, baby
                                                                [Refrão Final]
One is one too many
                                                                D
                                                                                                  G
                                                                 'Cause you and tequila make me crazy
One more is never enough
                                                                D
                                                                                          G
                                                                 Run like poison in my blood
                                                                Bm
(G Cadd9 G)
                                                                                                  Fm
(G Cadd9 G)
                                                                  One more night could kill me, baby
[Segunda Parte]
                                                                One is one too many
                                                                                   G
                                                                            D
                            Cadd9 G
                                                                One more is never enough
                  G
                                                                    Cadd9 G G Cadd9 G
Thirty days and thirty nights
                                                                G Cadd9
                                   G
                 G
                                                                    Never enough
Been putting up a real good fight
                                                                          G Cadd9 G G Cadd9 G
                                                                You and tequila
               G Cadd9
And there were times I thought
                                                                           G
                                                                You and tequila
 G G Cadd9 G
                                                                                G Cadd9
You'd win
                                                                Cadd9
                                                                           G
            G Cadd9 G
                                                                Make me crazy
It's so easy to forget
                     G
                                Cadd9 G
                                                                [Final] G G Cadd9
The bitter taste the morning left
                                                                       G G Cadd9
                                                                        G G Cadd9 G
                 G Cadd9 G
Swore I wouldn't go back there again
Acordes
      Gb
                   G EЬ
                                              Ab
                                                            Db
                                                                         Bb
                                                                                       D Bn оки
ukulele-chords.com
                                                                                             ukulele-chords.com
                         ukulele-chords.com
                                       ukulele-chords.com
                                                                 ukulele-chords.com
                                                                               ukulele-chords.com
           ukulele-chords.com
                               Cadd9
                                      ikulele-chords.com
```

ukulele-chords.com

ukulele-chords.com

ukulele-chords.com

ukulele-chords.com