

Khai Dreams - Ultimately

Tom:

Intro: Bb Am

Bb
Ultimately I don't understand a thing
Am
I try to do the best I can
I know you try to do the same
Bb
We're just so bound to make mistakes
You could call it a disposition
Am
I apologize for all your tears
I wish I could be different
Bb
But I'm still growing up
Am
Into the one you can call your love
Bb
I don't know if I'll ever be enough
Am
I'm throwing in my chips
I guess I tend to push my luck
Bb
And ultimately I believe we'll be okay
Am
It's so cliché to say these things, but repetition is a key
Bb
I think I'm better when I'm with you

But I worry when you're gone
Am
I think I need to learn to love myself
I must learn to be strong
Bb
So for now we'll say goodbye
Although it pains me in my heart
Am
Your words they come to me in memories
They sing to me like songs
Bb
It won't be long until I'm here
Soon I'll make my arrival
Am
Under shady trees
A quiet street
The roads that I have traveled
Bb
Ultimately it's a beautiful thing
Am
Like flowers blooming in a lonely field
The petals drift through crossing winds
Bb
They find their way to river streams
Am
That scent the water beautifully, it takes me back to you
It takes me back to you
