

King Gizzard & The Lizard Wizard - God Is In The Rhythm

Gb Ebm B

```
Gb Ebm B
                         tom:
                                                                         Db
              Gb
                                                              Gb Ebm B Db
                                                              Ebm Cm Bm Db
                       Ebm B
                                 Db
Earth by the moon, darker days
                                                              Ebm B
 Gb Ebm B Db
                                                        Seasons move, everybody knows
                                                           Gb Ebm B Db
Come soon
                                                        It's true
          Ebm B
Owl sings a tune, surely
                                                        Gb
                                                        Springs brings a dew

Db Gb Ebm B Db
    Gb Ebm B Db
She knows too
                                                        Hibernates winters tune
                Dbm
 Bird is waiting, expectating
                                                                         Dbm
             Db
                                                          Summer's waiting, expectating
 God is in the rhythm
                                                                    Db
                                                          God is in the seasons
           Ebm B
Earth by the sun

Db Gb Ebm B Db
                                                        (Gb Ebm B C)
                                                        (Gb Ebm B C)
Brighter days to run
                                                        (Gb Ebm B C)
Gb Ebm B
                                                        (Gb Ebm B C)
Rain knows the sun, knows it's not
                                                                          Dbm
Time to come
                                                          Summer's waiting, expectating
Ebm
                                                                     Db
 Rain is waiting, expectating
                                                          God is in the seasons
             Db
 God is in the rhythm
                                                        [Final] Gb Ebm B Db
```

[Solo] Gb Ebm B Db Acordes

