

Kiss - All American Man

```
Tom: Bb Rhythm Fig. 3
   Eb Tuning
                                                                 Riff. 1
Key:
     = slide up
    = slide down
١
h = bend (whole step)
h
    = bend (1/2 step)
    = pre-bend
dq
                                                                 Riff. 2
     = release-bend
h = hammer-on
    = pull-off
     = Vibrato
    = Natural Harmonic
#(#) = Trill
   = Artificial Harmonic
                                                                 Solo.
                                                                                    ALL AMERICAN MAN
    = Muted String (Palm Muting)
     = Muted String (Fretboard Muting)
One of the best of teh studio tracks from ALIVE II!. Bob Rhythm Fig. 1
Kulick plays lead
                                                                 Rhythm Fig. 1w/Riff.1
guitar on this one. They do try to make him play ACE-type licks, but if you
                                                                 Rhythm Fig. 1
know ACE's playing, you KNOW it's not him. Regardless Bob does some good
                                                                 Mama told me, "Your lady's lookin' for another man"
                                                                 I never worry, there ain't a need for me to take no stand work on this one. Using Trills (with a whammy bar and I got my reasons, the things I do are better left unsaid without), Bends, and some copped Ace licks to get this done... Well done. As for I'm into pleasin', I do my talkin' with my hands instead rhythm work is superb, throwing in some overdubbed fills to [Rhythm Fig. 2 w/Rhythm Fig. 2a]
                                                                  'Cause I can make some time
make this song
                                                                 You got your ticket and you're lookin' fine move.. Enjoy!
                                                                 You're starin' at the band, you want to land
Rhythm Fig. 1
                                                                 A six foot, hot look, all american man, yeah
                                                                 Rhythm Fig. 1
Rhythm Fig. 1a
                                                                 Rhythm Fig. 1 w/[Rhythm Fig. 1a]
                                                                 I've been to Detroit, I've been to L.A. and I've seen St. Lou I've had some good times, but I've been waitin' for a girl like you
Rhythm Fig. 1b
                                                                 [Rhythm Fig. 2 w/Rhythm Fig. 2a]
                                                                  Cause I can make some time
                                                                 You got your ticket and you're lookin' fine
Rhythm Fig. 1c
                                                                 You're starin' at the band, you want to land
                                                                 A six foot, hot look, all american man, yeah
                                                                 All American man
                                                                 [Rhythm Fig. 1]
       Pick Scrape
                                                                 [Rhythm Fig. 3]
                                                                 [Solo] w/ Rhythm Fig. 1 and Rhythm Fig. 1b
Rhythm Fig. 2
                                                                 [Rhythm Fig. 2 w/Rhythm Fig. 2a]
                                                                 'Cause I can make some time
                                                                 You got your ticket and you're lookin' fine
                                                                 You're starin' at the band, you want to land
Rhythm Fig. 2a
                                                                 A six foot, hot look, all american man, a man
                                                                 [Rhythm Fig. 1c]w/[Rhythm Fig. 1a] w/Riff.2
                                                                 I'm a six foot, hot look, all american man, yeah
Acordes
            ukulele-chords.com
                         ıkulele-chords.com
```