

Kiss - I Just Wanna

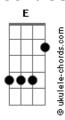

```
Tom: E
                                                                  Riff 2
  Rhythm Fig. 1
                                                                  Riff 3
                                                                     < - - - 2x - - - >
Rhythm Fig. 2
                                                                  Riff 4 (with slide)
           P.M.
                                   Let ring - - - - >
                                                                  Solo (partially with slide)
   Let ring - - - - >
Rhythm Fig. 3a
                                                                           P.M. - - ->
Rhythm Fig. 3b
                                                                       Hold bend - - ->
Rhythm Fig. 4a
                                                                  I just wanna
                                                                  [Rhythm Fig. 1]
Rhythm Fig. 4b
                                                                  I got a body built for sin and an apetite for passion
                                                                  Yeah I can see the road to ruin and I'm looking for some action
Rhythm Fig. 4c
                                                                  [Rhythm Fig. 2]
  < - - 3X - - >
                                                                  I got my finger on the trigger and a match to the fuse
                                                                  I'll make some one and offer that's too big to refuse Tired of tryin' to be What I'll never be
Rhythm Fig. 4d
                                                                  Baby, you could never see that...
Rhythm Fig. 5
                                                                  [Rhythm Fig. 3a & 3b]
            < - - - - > I'll never be
                                                                  Baby, you could never see that...
                                                                  [Rhythm Fig. 3a & 3b]
                                                                  I don't wanna romance
I don't wanna dance
   < - - - 2X - - - >
                                                                  [Rhythm Fig. 4a]
                                                                  I just wanna forget you
Rhythm Fig. 6a (two guitars arranged for one)
                                                                  [Rhythm Fig. 3a & 3b]
                                                                  Time to take my chances
                                                                  Find somebody new
                                                                  [Rhythm Fig. 4c with Riff 1] I just wanna for...I just wanna for
Rhythm Fig. 6b
                                                                  I just wanna forget you
                                                                  [Solo over Rhythm Fig. 5]
                                                                  [Rhythm Fig. 6a]
                                                                  Wake up baby, don't you sleep
                        P.M. - - - >
                                                                  I can't take this one more week
                                                                  [Rhythm Fig. 6a & 6b with Riff 2]
Rhythm Fig. 7
                                                                  If I can't go out to play
                                                                  I can't make it one more day
                                                                  [Rhythm Fig. 7 with Riff 3] I wanna play with dynamite, time is right for heavy breathing
                                                                  Getting stone cold crazy till the dawn without a reason
Rhythm Fig. 8
                                                                  [Rhythm Fig. 2]
                                                                  I wanna take me a vacation down a long stretch of track
                                                                  I'll find a new sensation and I ain't coming back
                                                                  Tired of tryin' to be
Rhythm Fig. 9
                                                                  What I'll never be
                                                                  Baby, you could never see that...
                                                                  [Rhythm Fig. 8 with Riff 4]
Riff 1 (with slide)
                                                                  I don't wanna romance
                                                                  I don't wanna dance
                                                                  I don't wanna romance
                                                                  Or a second chance
```

Oferecimento Lojalele.com.br

I don't wanna romance I don't wanna dance I just wanna for...I just wanna forget

[Rhythm Fig. 3a & 3b]
I don't wanna romance
I don't wanna dance
[Rhythm Fig. 4a]
I just wanna forget you
[Rhythm Fig. 3a & 3b]
Time to take my chances
Find somebody new
[Rhythm Fig. 4c with Riff 1]
I just wanna for..I just wanna for

Acordes

I just wanna forget

[Rhythm Fig. 3a & 3b]
I don't wanna romance
I don't wanna dance
[Rhythm Fig. 4a]
I just wanna forget you
[Rhythm Fig. 3a & 3b]
Time to take my chances
Find somebody new
[Rhythm Fig. 4b with Riff 1]
I just wanna for..I just wanna for
I just wanna forget you

[Rhythm Fig. 9]