

Kristen Vigard - Slave To My Emotions

```
Tom: B
                                                            I can really lift off my self (despegarme de mí misma) lift off my self
  Slave to my emotions
                                                            (Solo) E B Gbm (3x)
  Bbm
I feel when you flying
    Cm
and there with you
I' am flying too...
    Gb
I am lost
    Ahm
can tell but feel what you do
 Slave to my emotions
Bbm B
                                                            (Solo) Gbm A
I see yours sad eyes
                                                            Abm
   Cm B
                        Cm
                                                            Slave to my emotions
and know that if I could only hold you Bbm B Gb
                                                            but I live a dream that Abm
Then you where know that I am always on your side
                                                             Cm
                                                                  В
                                                            I had before
                                                                 Cm
Flying I can carry
                                                            I have one much more
                                                                      Gb В
                                                            but you're powerless
Nobody else
            Abm
                       Gbm
                                                                Abm B
                                                            um um um um um...
```

Acordes

