So you fell in love and it wasn't with me
 Hey that's fine, it's about time I let go
 But whatever curse you put here in me
 Well can you lift it babe before I hit the road?

[Refrão]

You were a charmer, I was a heartbreak junky
 You were a diamond, I was the heap of fool's gold You were the jet plane, I was the parachute failing i was the cheap ad when you were the centerfold

Then my sun set hard on carolina
 Where she howled about the pender county line
 And her six-string fingers ran the length of some boy's body in younger dreams I though that body might be mine

[Refrão]

You were a cold crush, I was a heartbreak junky
 Now you're a mother and i'm a flashback son
 Yeah i'm a wasteland, you've got all your milk and honey
 And back then I swore you were the only one

[Ponte]

So disenchant me baby, i've been dying to know how to give up,
 get out, stay gone

Make me not wanna go back to the girl that I had before, she was so sweet baby so sweet

Maybe I can reconcile what I ripped in two
 That haphazard, half-hearted love I was making with you
 Yeah, I made it with you

But now the bars are closed and the city sleeps tight
 As I ramble home my wretched merry way
 Where down was up and feeling bad felt so right.
 I thought that vertigo was here to stay

[Refrão]

We're talking hellfire, but at the time, it seemed funny
 When all the demons left the woodwork to play
 With an angel and a heartbreak junky
 Stuck in their rock bottom masquerade

[Ponte]

So disconnect me baby, i've been dying to know how to give up,
 get out, stay gone
 Make me not wanna go back to the girl that I had before, she
 was so sweet baby, so sweet

Maybe I can reconcile what I ripped in two
 That haphazard, half-hearted love I was making with you
 Yeah, I made it with you

So when eden burns behind you in the rearview
 And you're off to find a stranger paradise
 Where you can sing your own way out
 Well, you know that i'll be around
 With a sweet-talk woman fading slowly
 On a lovesick mind
