

LOVKN - New Life

When I hear You say to me
Intro: Am F Dm G C E
Am F Dm G C E
                                                                You're My child, My chosen one
Am G
Hold on
                                                                My creation, the result of My Love
                                                                                                                  Ε
                                                                                     C
                                                                Let Me lead you, we're gonna have some fun
Just hold onto me
I heard You say with clarity
                                                                Kickin' off my old shoes
It's gonna be a wild ride
                                                                Saying goodbye to my old blues
Read the writing on the wall
                                                                Breakin' away from the tiés
I was scared of giving it all away
                                                                Tellin' all my friends 'bout my new life
                  G
Till You broke through it all to say
                                                                Kickin' off my old shoes
You're My child, My chosen one
                                                                Saying goodbye to my old blues
My creation, the result of My Love
                                                                Breakin' away from the tiés
Let Me lead you, we're gonna have some fun
                                                                Tellin' all my friends 'bout my new life
Kickin' off my old shoes
                                                                Save me from myself
Saying goodbye to my old blues
                                                                See that I want You in my life
Breakin' away from the tiés
                                                                Show me the colors
Tellin' all my friends 'bout my new life
                                                                Of freedom in Your eyes
                                                                Freedom in Your eyes
Kickin' off my old shoes
Saying goodbye to my old blues
                                                                Kickin' off my old shoes
Breakin' away from the tiés
                                                                Saying goodbye to my old blues
Tellin' all my friends 'bout my new life
                                                                Breakin' away from the tiés
                                                                Tellin' all my friends 'bout my new life
Take heart, as hard as it may be
Beyond this step of faith
                                                                Kickin' off my old shoes
Is life everlasting, hope and peace and joy
                                                                Saying goodbye to my old blues
Joy, when I hear You say to me
                                                                Breakin' away from the tiés
                                                                Tellin' all my friends 'bout my new life
