The ocean holds unimaginable secrets

And treasures in the human mind

It keeps human history alive

It gives life to future generations

They say that everything we know

Is like a drop in the ocean

So imagine the possibilities it hides

Another world below water full of Beauty, energy and life. When everythin

Was water it gave us the chance and

From there we must get everything

Life is in the wind that blows waves

Current movement has its own compass

Even the tide is low or madly high

Moon keeps maintaining the waves alive

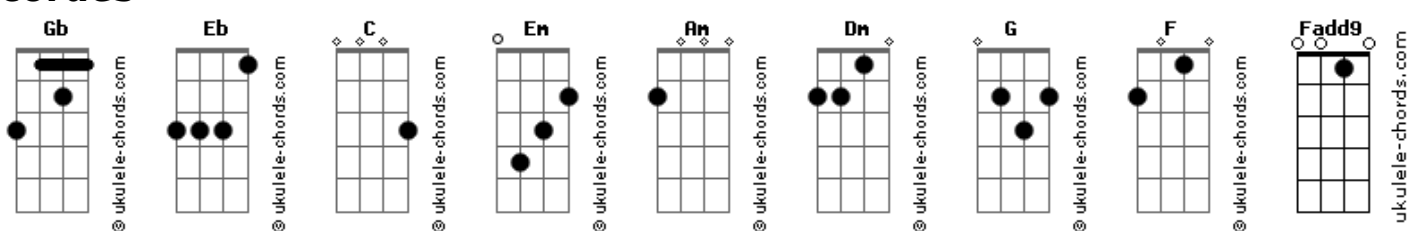

Fishes swimming hard from the foam

And crabs running fast for their homes

The storm that moves the ocean's life

Is needed to keep all working fine
