                                                               And I've missed your ginger hair and the way you like to dress
                                                               Won't you come on over? Stop making a fool out of me
Well, sometimes I go out by myself
                                                                                             Bb

And I think of all the things, what you're doing
