

Marshmello - Rooftops

```
tom:
                                                                                                             [Pré-Refrão]
       And we're screaming from the rooftops % \left\{ 1\right\} =\left\{ 1
Screaming till our heart stops
Let it out
         And baby, the thoughts we have
                                                                                           Dbm
You really killing me
       And we're screaming from the rooftops
Screaming till our heart stops
Let it out
                                                                                                                                                            Ε
       And baby, the thoughts we have
You really killing me
[Refrão]
This love we have
This love we have
                                                         Dbm
This love we have
This love we have
 This love we have
                                                             F
 This love we have
                                                          Dbm
This love we have
[Pré-Refrão]
      And we're screaming from the rooftops
                                                                                                                                 Dbm
Screaming till our heart stops
                                                                                                                                                            Ε
       And baby, the thoughts we have
                                                                                                 Dbm
You really killing me
Acordes
```

```
Screaming till our heart stops
Let it out
And baby, the thoughts we have
          Dbm
You really killing me
[Refrão]
This love we have
This love we have
      Dbm
This love we have
This love we have
      Α
This love we have
      Е
This love we have
     Dbm
This love we have
And we're screaming from the rooftops
             Dbm
Screaming till our heart stops
Let it out
And baby, the thoughts we have
          Dbm
You really killing me
And we're screaming from the rooftops
Screaming till our heart stops
Let it out
And baby, the thoughts we have
You really killing me
And we're screaming from the rooftops
Screaming till our heart stops
Let it out
And baby, the thoughts we have
You really killing me
```

And we're screaming from the rooftops