

Matoma - Girl At Coachella (feat. Magic! D.r.a.m)

```
Tom: Eb
                                                               But when the lights went on, she was gone forever
                                                               Never trust a girl at Coachella
  I thought I met the one
         Fb
She had everything I wanted
                                                               Verso 3:
A beauty in the sun
                                                               I'm still trippin' off a devious plan
And we like the same bands
                                                               I was trippin' off the shrooms
[Pre-Chorus: Nasri Atweh]
                                                               She was trippin' for a band
                                                               She took notice of some fans
We danced, we laughed, we took a couple things
We screamed, we clapped, like kids in the rain
                                                               And stopped for pics, 'cause I'm the man
                                                                           Cm
The time we had was something from a dream
                                                               She jumped over on my dick
'Til reality kicked in
                                                               'Cause she just realized who I am
                                                               Got her past the gate, actin' like my date
                   Gm
And she said, she said she'd run away with me
                                                               Soon as she got in, started actin' fake
So I took her to the VIP
                                                               She ain't wanna stay close to me
And when the lights went on, she was gone forever
                                                               Even though she was just blowin' me
              Dm
Never trust a girl at Coachella
                                                               Blowin' in the wind, bus to bus
She said she was the one for me
                                                               Member to member, all for lust
She was kissing me from cheek to cheek
                                                               Lead singer to the man on the drums
But when the lights went on, she was gone forever
                                                               Slow in her waist but as fast as they come
             Dm
Never trust a girl at Coachella
                                                                                   Gm
                                                               And she said, she said she'd run away with me
Verso 2:
                                                                      Eb
                                                               So I took her to the VIP
I met another one
Standing in a sundress
                                                               And when the lights went on, she was gone forever
She was innocent at first
                                                               Never trust a girl at Coachella
Intro: duced me to her girlfriends
                                                               She said she was the one for me
Pré-Refrão:
                                                               She was kissing me from cheek to cheek
We danced, we laughed, with water in our hands
                                                               But when the lights went on, she was gone forever
                         Dm
                                                                             Dm
We screamed, we clapped, like kids in the sand
                                                               Never trust a girl at Coachella
She restored my faith in the human race
                                                               Final:
                                                               Gm
'Til reality kicked in
                                                               Cm
And she said
                                                               She was gone
                                                               Gm Eb
                                                               Cm
                                                               Run away with me
And she said, she said she'd run away with me
                                                               Gm
                                                                          Fb
      Eb
                                                               Cm
So I took her to the VIP
                                                               She was gone
                                                               VIP
And when the lights went on, she was gone forever
                                                               Gm
                                                                        Dm
Never trust a girl at Coachella
                                                               Lights went on, she was gone forever
She said she was the one for me
                                                               Never trust a girl at Coachella
                                                               Gm Eb
She was kissing me from cheek to cheek
                                                               Never trust a girl at Coachella
```

Acordes

