Intro: Gbm E B Gadd9 A
                                                                    Gbm
                                                                    A tout le monde
                F
Don't remember where I was
                                                                    A tout les amis
I realized life was a game
                                                                    Je vous aime
The more seriously I took things
                                                                    Je dois partir
The harder the rules became
                                                                    These are the last words
          Е
I had no idea what it cost
                                                                    I'll ever speak
         Gadd9 A
                                                                    And they'll set me free
My life passed before my eyes
                                                                    ( Gbm E B G A )
( Gbm E B G A )
I found out how little I accomplished
                  Gadd9 A
All my plans denied
                                                                    So as you read this, know my friends

If my heart was still alive
                                                                    A tout les amis
I know it would surely break
                                                                    Je vous aime
                 Е
And my memories left with you
                                                                    Ghm

Moving on is a simple thing
                                                                   I'll ever speak
What it leaves behind is hard
                                                                    And they'll set me free
