To get this, tune both E strings down to a D, then tune the A string down to a G

VERSE 2:

For this song I'll just tab the intro because most of the song just uses a few chord shapes so it's quicker to just give the shapes instead of tabbing the whole thing. I've only given a rough idea of the strumming pattern - so as usual : get tuned up, learn the shapes then play along to the track and you shouldn't have any problems.

Anima rising
Queen of queens
Wash my guilt of eden
Wash and balance me
He says "Anima rising uprising in me tonight"
She's a vengeful little goddess
With an ancient crown to fight

Intro: -----

...and so on for the other verses.

After the 3rd (or maybe 4th) verse she repeats the INTRO tab above, then on to another verse or two.
The song ends on a repeated open G chord.

out a lot of chord changes, she tends to play a lot of short open G chords "between" changes, using hammer-ons and pull-offs. The line of TAB just : C C G she puts in extra G chords on the open strings to fill it out.

Chord Shapes :

Use this idea throughout.
