

Myles Kennedy - Devil On The Wall

Tom: E

Devil unkind always creeping in the blind
 With shadows of the dearly departed
 Planting the seed that in time will bloom to be
 Trouble that will rip you apart

I cannot lie, I am barely holding on
 Caught in the mire I've come to know for way too long
 Drawn to the light but now the light is dead and gone
 If there is a God, why did he take my father's soul

I cannot fight this worried mind
 In the end, it's all my fault
 The fate you find, you choose in time
 When you draw the devil on the wall

Voices inside, they keep screaming in my head
 A choir of anguish pulling me into the dark
 A slow-moving calm that I am needing left for dead

Solace to me, it seems to be so very far

I cannot fight this worried mind
 In the end, it's all my fault
 The fate you find, you choose in time
 When you draw the devil on the wall

Devil unkind always creeping in the blind
 With shadows of the dearly departed
 Planting the seed that in time will bloom to be
 Trouble that will rip you apart

(E)

I cannot fight this worried mind
 In the end, it's all my fault
 The fate you find, you choose in time
 When you draw the devil on the wall
 Yeah
 When you draw the devil on the wall
 Yeah
