

Natalia Lacunza - Another Stupid Love Song

Tom: C

I know you won't listen to my words

Cause you don't want to

Cause you don't need to

You have it all

You're in control

We still don't know what's going on

We could be falling or this could be

Just another stupid love song

As the clocks keep turning

We're still pretending

It's all part of the game

But tell me what would happen

If we saw each other

In another life

In another place

Would it hurt?

Maybe not

Maybe we would just forget

The little pieces that we kept

Hiding in our minds

I try to find now where's the line

That spares the laws

Of space and time

That's filling in this heart of mine

That somehow joins the truth of life

The truth of life

Acordes

