

Nengo Vieira - John Three

```
If you want to enter
Intro: C
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                \mathsf{Dm}
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            In the reign of God
I love the love of Jesus, yeeah, yeaah?
                         Em Dm
                                                                                Uhh?
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           Let the spirit come take you
        Hear what i will say
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           And then you will be... yeah, yeah, yeah?
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           AUMENTA 1 TOM
I know it's gonna be good for you
Open up your heart
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            Like the wind that blows
I know it's gonna be good for you % \left\{ 1\right\} =\left\{ 1\right\} =
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           But no one knows where it comes from
Gotta try this love
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           Neither where it goes
 (amaziing amazing)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            The wind just blows where it pleases
Give up your disguise
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            Gotta try this love
(surrender surrender)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            (amaziing amazing)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           Give up your disguise
Jesus told the jew Nicodemus
You have to be born again
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            (surrender surrender)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           Jesus told the jew Nicodemus
If you want to enter
In the reign of God
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           You have to be born again
Let the spirit come take you
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            If you want to enter
And then you will be... yeah, yeah, yeah?
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           In the reign of God
Like the wind that blows
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            Let the spirit come take you
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           And then you will be... yeah, yeah, yeah?
But no one knows where it comes from
Neither where it goes
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           Like the wind that blows
The wind just blows where it pleases
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           But no one knows where it comes from
Gotta try this love
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           Neither where it goes
 (amaziing amazing)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            The wind just blows where it pleases
Give up your disguise
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Now I gotta go
 (surrender surrender)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            I hope this song has been good for you
Jesus told the jew Nicodemus
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           Now I gotta go
You have to be born again
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            I hope this song has been good for you?.
```

Acordes

