

Neutral Milk Hotel - Holland 1945

tom: G

The only girl I've ever loved C G
Was born with roses in her eyes C G
But then they buried her alive C G
One evening nineteen-forty-five D C
With just her sister at her side D G
And only weeks before the guns D C
All came and rained on everyone D G
Now she's a little boy in Spain D C
Playing pianos filled with flames D C
On empty rings around the sun D C
All sing to say my dream has come D C

But now we must pick up every piece C G
Of the life we used to love C G
Just to keep ourselves G D
At least enough to carry on G D

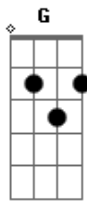

And now we ride the circus wheel C G
With your dark brother wrapped in white C G
Says it was good to be alive G D C

But now he rides a comet's flame D G
And won't be coming back again D C
The Earth looks better from a star D G
That's right above from where you are D C
He didn't mean to make you cry D G
With sparks that ring and bullets fly D C
On empty rings around your heart D C
The world just screams and falls apart D C G

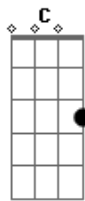

But now we must pick up every piece C G
Of the life we used to love C G
Just to keep ourselves G D
At least enough to carry on G D

And here's where your mother sleeps G A C C G
And here is the room where your brothers were born G A C C G
Indentations in the sheets G A C C G D
Where their bodies once moved but don't move anymore C G C G
And it's so sad to see the world agree C G D
That they'd rather see their faces filled with flies G A C C G C G
All when I'd want to keep white roses in their eyes G
[Final] C G C D C G
