

NeverShoutNever - Peace Song

I've always wondered what the world would be like.
                                                            There's a fire in my heart, you're not putting it out.
                             A7 A A
If we all just took, two steps back and prayed for peace.
                                                            There's no need to scream or shout.
I've always wondered how the air would smell.
                                                                      D
                                                            Just pray for peace.
                                                                    D
Do you think that we be able to tell, without the smell of
                                                            There's a song in my soul, try and beat it out.
                                                                                    Α7
                                                            There's no need to scream or shout.
That we're going to hell.
                                                               A D

There's a fire in my heart, you're not putting out.

My heart was pure, my soul was clean.
                                                                       D
                                                            Just pray for peace.
Got shipped away to a war zone, across the shining sea.
                                                            Just pray for peace.
In the name of peace.
My mama told me "youngest son, don't lose your mind to that loaded gun".
