

Nick Jonas - Remember I Told You

```
Tom: Gb
                                                               Remember I told you, I need you
                                                               Remember the spark that was there
Remember I told you, I need you
                                                               All of the words that I'm saying
Remember the spark that was there
                                                               Are just a fancy way of saying "I care"
All of the words that I'm saying
Are just a fancy way of saying "I care"
                                                               Had to cut it off and we know why
                                                                I'm in love with myself, cold inside
I don't suppose you have a moment to spare me
            Dbm
                                                                Too many shoes in your closet, go some miles
Do you? Do you?
                                                                I suck at talking to girls, here goes a try
I've been looking for love in all the wrong places
                                                                Gbm
                                                               More woman than I should've in a century
You too? You too?
                                                               Bitches on the side like a Kennedy
I don't like the way you went and told me, "Oh well"
                                                                Starting to drain all my energy
                                 Dbm
I have the suspicion you're not being yourself
                                                                I love it, shoot the frame like an enemy
I don't suppose you have a moment to spare me
                                                               At the same time, and I can't lie
             Dbm
Do you? Do you?
                                                               Too many girls for the way that I rock the bassline
                                                                You got addicted to the seas of the bassline
Remember I told you, I need you
                                                               Let's see how you're gonna do with the back and forth fameline
Remember the spark that was there
                                                               After all the shit we been through
All of the words that I'm saying
                                                                I play the rocksea, I ain't 'bout to guestlist you
Are just a fancy way of saying "I care"
                                                               And I know I'm talking shit, it ain't fair
You're probably somewhere, with someone I don't know
                                                               Hate is just a fancy way saying that I care
        Bm
That's cool, and that's cool
                                                                Remember I told you, I need you
And I hope that she gives you, all the things that you deserve
         Bm
                                                                Remember the spark that was there
That's true, that's true
                                                               All of the words that I'm saying
Listen, I don't like the way you went and told me, "Oh well"
                                                                Are just a fancy way of saying "I care"
I have the suspicion you're not being yourself
                                                                Remember I told you, I need you
You're probably somewhere, with someone I don't know
                                                               Remember the spark that was there
That's cool, and that's cool
                                                               All of the words that I'm saying
                                                               Are just a fancy way of saying "I care"
Acordes
```

