                                                               God, I miss the glory days, always
  I?m back in my hometown
                                                                 Daylight getting near
The main street's dying down
                                                              We shed a few more tears
It's like there's nothing left of it
                                                              Lord, I love the memories we've made
 No more high school grounds
                                                                The years have come and gone
They tore that building down
                                                              But these stories carry on
And everything we built, I miss
                                                               Looking back, they're better than they used to be
 I cut off my own friends
                                                               Cause you should'a seen the size of the guy's we were fightin'
So lost inside seeing them
                                                               And we shouldn't be alive at the speeds we were driving
Feels like were back there instantly, to me
                                                               But momma always taught us never ever to tell a lie
  We all need a chance
                                                               And every tenny out there's always turned into twenty
The backyard fires on
                                                               Every girl we were with never cost any money
And we stop telling tales of how life used to be
                                                               And we drank more tequila than any man alive
The years have come and gone
                                                              And the story goes on
But these stories carry on
                                                                                             N.C.
                                                               It gets a little better, every time we're together
Looking back, they're better than they used to be (CFAmGF)
Cause you should'a seen the size of the guy's we were fightin'
                                                               Cause you should'a seen the size of the guy's we were fightin'
And we shouldn't be alive at the speeds we were driving
                                                               And we shouldn't be alive at the speeds we were driving
But momma always taught us never ever to tell a lie
                                                               But momma always taught us never ever to tell a lie
And every tenny out there's always turned into twenty
                                                               And every tenny out there's always turned into twenty
Every girl we were with never cost any money
                                                               Every girl we were with never cost any money
And we drank more tequila than any man alive
                                                               And we drank more tequila than any man alive
And the story goes on
                              N.C.
                                                               And the story goes on
It gets a little better, every time we're together
                                                               It gets a little better, every time we're together

 It's funny how we change
                                                              And the story goes on
And some things stay the same
                                                                                             N.C.
                                                               It gets a little better, every time we're together
